Dr Alan Ross has 4 university degrees, over 40 years of experience and has advised governments, development banks and UN agencies on strategies and road safety issues in over 70 countries including Serbia. He led efforts at the World Bank to generate international support for and to establish the Global Road Safety partnership (GRSP) that is now working in 191 countries as part of the International Red Cross. He is a founder and past president of the International Road Safety Centre. He is interested in Artificial intelligence (AI) and Technological Disruptions and their impacts in different sectors and is now working to ensure that the Digital Divide between the rich and developing countries does not increase. He has made free documents and videos on AI related issues available in multiple languages ( including Serbian ) from his website (<https://global-ai.solutions> ) and his @AIGrandad99 Youtube channels ( <https://www.youtube.com/@AIGrandad999> ) to ensure that AI benefits are shared with businesses and individuals across the developing world to create a safer, fairer world for all.
